Vancouver's Rising Star Karim Fahmy Gets His Big Break With Role On Fox TV's "Prison Break: Sequel"

Vancouver June 17, 2016 – Vancouver's 12-year-old rising star Karim Fahmy has been cast in the recurring role of URCHIN in the blockbuster Fox TV series "PRISON BREAK: SEQUEL," which is his first television booking after appearing in three student films. "Prison Break: Sequel" shoots partly in Vancouver and Karim also shot scenes with cast and crew in the very hot and exotic location of Morocco.

Karim was born in Dubai and began his career at the age of 4 there performing in television commercials and appearing in print ads. He moved to Vancouver in August 2010 with his mother Dalya Gomaa and two older sisters Yasmine and Salma. Karim studies acting in Vancouver at the LeBlanc School of Acting with teacher Julian LeBlanc. He was sponsored by Catharine Falcon and Julian LeBlanc for ten weeks at the school. Karim also takes private acting classes with Crystal Buble at Jeb Beach Studio. Karim received a 2015 Joey Award nomination in the category of Best Actor for the lead title role in the short film "Lou" and for the leading voiceover role and short web series "Copper & Light." His other short film roles include Carlos in "Book Box" and Classmate in "Jeremy Tanner is a Sisko."

Karim loves to sing and dance on stage and also trains with the Lights Up Musical Theatre School. He performed in their production of "Inside Out" at the Orpheum Theatre. He also enjoys Hip-Hop dancing with Perform Art Studios in North Vancouver and will be performing on stage in the final end of year show. Karim plays piano with Tom Lee Music Academy once a week and will play in their end of year show as well.

Karim is also an athlete who enjoys sports and swims with the Canadian Dolphin Swim Club four times a week after school, including a practice every morning at 5:20 a.m. He also plays with the Vancouver Eagles youth basketball team after school. Karim loves the outdoors, biking, snowboarding and music. He is described as a very friendly and kind-hearted boy who loves to be around people and help others.
